INTRODUCTION

The importance of credit to the health of neighborhood economies has long been recognized by community organizations throughout the country. During the 1970's, the significant role of financial institutions in providing residential credit was affirmed by Congress when it passed the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act in 1975 (HMDA) and the Community Reinvestment Act in 1977. Now, in the 1980's, the deregulation of the banking industry has resulted in a new surge of reinvestment activity among community organizations nationwide, including landmark agreements between community organizations and financial institutions; it has produced banking legislation in almost every state, as state legislatures respond to demands to approve interstate banking, yet to protect their states from capital outflow; and it has brought a new competitive spirit to the financial institutions themselves, many of which are seeking new and expanded markets for their products and services.

The Brownsville Community Lending Profiles

To take advantage of the new opportunities, and to ensure that each neighborhood receives enough credit to maintain a healthy economy, it is important that citizens, organizations, local and state policymakers and lenders actively monitor and manage reinvestment activity. The Community Lending Profiles are designed to make the information reported under HMDA readily available for this purpose. They provide detailed information on the individual performance of banks and savings and loan associations in each census tract in the Brownsville metropolitan area. These profiles contain HMDA data compiled and computerized by the Federal Reserve Bank, listing the number and dollar amount of single-family mortgages, home improvement loans and multifamily loans made by each lender in each neighborhood in 1984 and 1985, the most recent data available from the Federal Reserve Bank.

Why is Residential Lending Important?

When loans are made in an area, the results are visible--needed repairs are made to homes, apartment buildings are well maintained and there are few vacant buildings. Without access to credit, houses do not sell, apartment buildings deteriorate, businesses contract, abandonment increases, and neighborhoods decline. Reinvestment, which takes place when neighborhood deposits are returned to a community as loans to neighborhood residents, is the way financial institutions contribute to the health of neighborhood economies.

Changes in the financial services industry due to deregulation have occurred rapidly over the last several years, resulting in limited interstate banking throughout much of the nation, increasing competition among the lenders for the most profitable business, and a rapid increase in the types of institutions conducting banking business. As a result, many communities have lost banking facilities, and criteria for lending decisions are becoming less sensitive to local conditions. For this reason, it is now even more important to monitor the reinvestment activity taking place in urban neighborhoods.

The Reinvestment Legislation

The Home Mortgage Disclosure Act of 1975 provides the information needed to monitor residential lending by banks and savings and loan associations. It requires all banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions with more than $10 million in assets to disclose the number and dollar amount of their housing loans by census tract. The Community Reinvestment Act of 1977 (CRA) requires that banks and savings and loan associations help to meet the credit needs of their local communities. It also allows community organizations the right to challenge applications by banks and savings and loan associations to acquire or merge with another bank, to establish a holding company, or to open or close a branch, if it can be shown that the community reinvestment record of that institution is poor.

WHAT THE PROFILES CONTAIN

In each of the two years, the reports are organized by census tracts. Within each census tract is an alphabetical list of those banks and savings and loan associations that made loans in the census tract. Four types of housing loans are reported: conventional mortgage loans, FHA/VA mortgage loans, home improvement loans, and multifamily loans. The number and dollar amount of each type of loan made by each lender is listed and the total of all residential loans for each lender is listed on the right. At the end of each year's report, the total number and dollar amount of each type of loan is given.*

* It should be noted that this data comes from the reports that the lending institutions themselves provide to the federal regulators. Therefore, inaccuracies may exist due to faulty reporting by the lenders. Data reported was "cleaned" by removing reports with nonexistent census tract numbers or loan amounts outside of the limits of probability (as determined by the Federal Reserve Bank). Less than 1% of the loans are not reflected in this report due to cleaning processes.

In analyzing this data, it should be noted that only housing loans are reported under HMDA. Some institutions specialize in commercial lending and may be active in the community through providing business loans. It is also important to consider the different sizes of the institutions included when analyzing the data. Financial institutions may range in size from tens of billions of dollars in assets to just a few million. The size of an institution will affect the type of lending carried out and the relationship it has to a particular community.

PRACTICAL USES OF THIS INFORMATION

The information contained in the Lending Profiles is being provided for the purpose of helping individuals, community organizations, neighborhood institutions, government officials, realtors, and lenders to increase lending in their communities. The following are some ways that the information can be used:

Community Organizations

Community organizations may use this information to work with lenders to develop community-lender partnerships. Programs can be developed which target specific dollar amounts to meet specific credit needs of a given community. New or expanded marketing, advertising, and loan products can be developed to better service the community. Special state incentive programs can be used to develop new state deposits for banks unable to meet the needs of the neighborhood. Existing special lending programs can be marketed within the community.

Lenders

Lenders use various criteria to choose those communities where they plan to increase their customer base, to expand their market share or to augment their community reinvestment lending. The information on lending activity in these profiles demonstrate market activity that may not be available through other sources of information. It can be used by lenders to increase their share of existing markets and to identify unmet market opportunities. Careful analysis of this information can help to more accurately target marketing, advertising and lending programs for both expansion of market share and increases in community reinvestment lending.

Individuals, Unions, Neighborhood Institutions

The deregulation of interest rates on deposits has created aggressive competition for deposits among financial institutions. While depositors look for the best interest rates and the most convenience, it is also possible to use another criterion, a positive community reinvestment record. Individuals, unions, and local civic and religious institutions can use the information in these profiles to consider reinvestment performance before they choose the banking institution where they will establish their savings and checking accounts, and to which they will take their loan business.

Realtors

Most homebuyers depend on advice from their realtor to help them choose a mortgage lender. The range of mortgage products now available challenges realtors to find new ways to best serve the financing needs of home buyers and sellers. The information in these profiles can help realtors identify those lenders with a good lending record in specific communities. In addition, realtors can approach local lenders with information on loan opportunities in those areas where the lender is making fewer loans.

Local Government

Local and state government entities can use their economic and statutory power to encourage reinvestment. They can use the information in these profiles as a basis for making decisions about where to place their deposits. In addition, they can develop linked deposit programs that tie public deposits to special reinvestment programs that address the credit needs of underserved neighborhoods.

Banking Regulators

Federal and state banking regulators can use this information to assess the relative performance of different institutions in serving the credit needs of their communities as required under the Community Reinvestment Act and state reinvestment requirements.
